

Get Growing -- Horticultural Training on Harris

Come to an exceptional and free two-day horticultural training event 15-16 February put on by the Scottish Agricultural College (SAC) and the Scottish Crofting Federation (SCF).

The course starts at the Harris Hotel, from 10am to 3pm on Monday 15 February [lunch included], with an evening question time from 7.30 to 9pm.

Guest experts are:

- Dr. Audrey Litterick -- former horticultural lecturer at SAC who now works as a freelance environmental consultant.
- Norman Stephen -- SAC soil scientist and a tutor of SAC distance learning courses in organic farming.
- Donald Murdie -- a one-time Lewis crofter and long-time Lewis & Harris Horticultural Producers (LHHP) member and activist.

On day two, we visit a local horticulturalist, to see success first hand.

This is a rare opportunity to learn from such expert advice and local knowledge. It is also a chance to learn about more Get Growing Workshops envisioned by LHHP later in the year.

Get Growing. To book a place or for more information, contact Barry Shelby, project officer, LHHP. Telephone 01851 612 239. E-mail barryshelby@mac.com or bshelby@bshelby.demon.co.uk.

